School Bus Costs, Safety Above State Average

By Lisa Waterman

Statistics noted that the town's school bus service is far ahead of other communities in the state, in safety, cost effectiveness and efficiency.

A transportation report regarding the school bus service was presented Tuesday evening to the School Committee by Business Manager Francis L. Paul and Transportation and Purchasing Coordinator Carol Znamierowski.

The transportation budget has increased by 30.4 percent since 1981 and 16.8 percent over last year's budget. The state average of per pupil cost is $217.33, Andover's cost is $122.21 per year, according to statistics presented by Paul.

New vehicles, flexibility within the school district and trial routing, were the reasons cited for the effectiveness of the system.

"We know where each child lives, where the house numbers are and every child is put on the transportation map," Znamierowski explained to the committee as she demonstrated the routing maps. "We know where there should be right side pick-ups. We make sure that we don't have children crossing busy streets like River Road."

There were five accidents involving school buses in Andover last year, which is below the state average.

"Pupil transportation is the largest form of mass transportation in the world, dwarfing airline travel," Paul said.

Officer Jack Milne of the Andover Police Department coordinates safety procedures with the school department. Students are given lectures on safety procedures and bus evacuation. The Registry of Motor Vehicles inspects the town's school buses five times per year.

Andover transports 8,900 students daily over the 168 miles of paved roads in Andover.

Seat belts, stop-arms and protection from drivers who pass school buses in the process of unloading children were discussed.

A state commission will be investigating the possibility of seat belts through 1986.

"I have been attending state conferences and Gov. Dukakis is stating there will be seat belts in buses," Znamierowski said. "There are a lot of factors to be straightened out, federal regulations, liability of the bus drivers and the type of seat belts to be used, lap versus harness, all have to be decided."

This year the state will make direct grants to communities to provide "stop-arms," which are stop signs that come out from the left side of the bus to prevent people from passing school buses. Stiffer regulations by the state for drivers who pass school buses are being considered for legislation, according to the transportation coordinator. A fine of $100 for the first offense, $300 for the second offense and a 30-day loss of drivers license and $500 for the third offense and a year's loss of license are among considerations.

In September of 1987, the no standee law will be put into effect. The first year no more than three standees will be allowed on school buses. By the second year no standees and 10 percent standee rate will be allowed in the case of bus breakdown. By 1990 no school buses prior to 1977 will be allowed to be used by communities in the state. Buses prior to 1977 do not have roll-over bars, compartmentation, (the high-backed seats that pro-

The completed forms should be returned by Jan. 20. They may be mailed in the envelopes provided, or be deposited, without postage, in special boxes provided at Andover Savings Bank or Bay Bank on Main Street; Arlington Trust in Shawsheen Plaza; or in the mailbox directly in front of the Town Hall.

Summer Programming On Agenda

Parents of special needs students are invited to meet with the 766 Parents Advisory Council and Mary French, acting pupil personnel administrator, at 1 p.m. on Wednesday, Jan. 15, in the pupil personnel conference room, School Administration Building.

This informal meeting will focus on possible summer programming and issues raised by those in attendance.

Licenses, Permits Approved

At Monday night's meeting, the Board of Selectmen granted three Common Victualler's licenses to the following local businesses: ARA Services, 20 Shattuck Road; Catering Specialties by Blaine (Foxboro) for LISP Machine, Inc., 6 Tech Drive; and Village Deli, 32 Andover St.

By unanimous vote, the selectmen granted Ocean Properties North, 123 Old River Road, a license to store 4,000 gallons of propane gas in four aboveground tanks. The gas will be used this winter to heat areas on the construction site for the company's planned 300-room hotel.

In utility-related action, the board voted to grant New England Telephone permission to locate two poles along a section of Sunset Rock Road. It gave permission to Massachusetts Electric to locate two underground cables on Poor Street, and it gave Western Union the go-ahead to put in separate fiber optic cable communication lines for Raytheon, Inc. Bay State Gas received permission to excavate for gas service on Lowell Street and Rutgers Road.

As Sewer Commissioners, the board okayed sanitary sewer connections for two sites on Dawn Circle and three sites on Windemere Drive.

A GROUP FOR ADOLESCENTS WHO ABUSE ALCOHOL AND DRUGS

Many families who experience adolescent alcohol and drug abuse understandably desire to keep the problem private and attempt to cope with the problem within the family. Sometimes this is not effective.

We at The Somers Trust Psychological Associates are concerned about the recent published reports which suggest a high percentage of teenagers have either experimented and/or have continued to use and then abuse alcohol and drugs. Accordingly, we will be offering an educational and therapeutic group to adolescents whose abuse of alcohol and drugs has become noticeable to the family, schools or legal system.

Robert McManus, M.S., C.A.G.S., and Harry Somers, M.Ed., C.A.G.S., will co-lead this group. Both are experienced alcohol and drug abuse counselors. Robert McManus was formerly the director of the Outpatient Clinic at Melrose/Wakefield Hospital and Harry Somers is a former probation officer who also works part-time at a non-profit drug and alcohol agency in Plymouth, MA.

This group will begin on Friday, Jan. 24, 1986, at 5:15 p.m. and meet every Friday thereafter at the offices of The Somers Trust Psychological Associates located at 789 Turnpike Street (Route 114) (The Willows Professional Park) in North Andover, MA.

Those interested in the group are encouraged to call 688-8004.

Jenkins House Sunday Topic

The Andover Historical Society is sponsoring another of its First Sunday Series on Sunday, Jan. 12, at 2 p.m. at its headquarters, 97 Main St. The program features slides and taped narration on "The William Jenkins House and the Underground Railroad."

The society is engaged in a variety of efforts to help contemporary Andover residents better understand their community's rich cultural heritage. Historical slide shows, offered the first Sunday of each month, are only one of its programs in public education.

One of the most unusual of the many old houses in Andover was built by Samuel Jenkins before the Revolutionary War, in 1765. It is now known as the William Jenkins house. William, grandson of the original builder, was active in town before the Civil War.

Life at the William Jenkins house, located on what was the Boston-Haverhill Turnpike in the eastern part of town near the Harold Parker State Forest, was exciting politically and diversified industrially around the middle of the 19th century.

The political excitement centered around the hot abolitionist movement. Anti-slavery meetings were held in his house. Some were attended by William Lloyd Garrison, editor of the Liberator and Harriet Beecher Stowe, author of Uncle Tom's Cabin.

William Jenkins did far more than preach freedom for the slaves; he hid and sheltered them by making his house a station on the Underground Railroad leading to Canada. William was so strong an abolitionist that he spoke at length against slavery as a state legislator in the 1840s. He withdrew from South Church in 1844 because he considered its members too lukewarm about this moral issue. Two years later the Free Church was established in protest. The slides show exactly where in the house fugitive slaves were hidden.

From an economic point of view, William Jenkins was innovative and successful. He built a saw mill along the Skug River on his property. Slides show a foundation of this water-powered mill which produced lumber for local construction and shipbuilding. Ship's knees and other material were hauled by ox team to Ipswich and Danversport.

Even more enterprising was the development of a soapstone quarry on his premises. The blocks were sawn or cut into many shapes, usually for building construction, but sometimes for gravestones. Soft when quarried, this stone became hard and durable after exposure to air.

For many years, the Jenkins family operated a large cranberry bog on their property. The Jenkins' slide show also includes many slides showing the details of construction of the interior of this large house.

The William Jenkins house story reveals two aspects of life in Andover during the 19th century; unusual business initiative and a social conscience which was to lead to the Civil War and was to reshape American history.

The Andover Historical Society is a non-profit, educational institution open to members and the public. For information on open hours and programs, call the office between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Special Presentation To Collins

At a special reception Tuesday evening, Jan. 7, at the Prescott House in North Andover, The Andover Choral Society presented its conductor laureate, J. Everett Collins, with a two-cassette tape recording of its presentation of Handel's "Messiah," performed with the South Church Choir on Sunday, Dec. 15, under the baton of Mr. Collins' successor, George H. Redman of Andover.

The choirs were joined in this, the society's 56th performance, by guest soloists, soprano Elisabeth Sheldon and alto Marylene Altieri of Boston, tenor Allen Combs, an Idaho native studying for his Master's degree in Music at the University of Lowell, and bass Lawrence D. Collopy of Lawrence. The 13-piece orchestra included Andover residents Lea Leduc, concertmaster, violin, Nancy and Ted Pauls, viola and bass, Christ Church and Brooks School organist Earl Miller and John Simonson of Tewksbury, viola.

A copy of this live-performance tape will be aired at 7:15 on Tuesday, Jan. 14, at an open house in the society's rehearsal hall, the choir rooms at the southern end of Doherty Junior High School, Bartlet Street, Andover. Members of the Choral Society will be available to answer questions about the purchase of this recording.

The open house will inaugurate the weekly rehearsal schedule preparing for the society's Spring Gala, a pops concert on Friday evening, May 16. The Choral Society will sing sacred and secular classical motets, madrigals and choruses from several composers, including Thomas Morley, Gibbons, Lassus, Mozart and Beethoven. The director has chosen popular presentations from barbershop, folk song and musical theater repertoire.

Redman invites all in the Merrimack Valley area who like to sing to meet with him and choir members during this first rehearsal. He emphasizes that it is not necessary to read music in order to participate. For further information, call Margaret LaTorre, 17 Strawberry Hill Road, Andover.

Driving Tips

Black ice and frosty bridges are a couple of things early-morning drivers should watch out for this time of year.

"Black ice occurs when water along the roadsides or from melting snow flows across the highway and freezes in a thin sheet before morning," said Richard T. Sawyer, assistant manager of the Automobile Club of Merrimack Valley.

"Often it's hard to see this ice until you're nearly on top of it. Sometimes it fools you because it looks like water.

"Bridges end to accumulate frost and ice whenever temperatures go down at night.

By morning they are very slippery."

BABY TALK

by Jack Resnick

Sleep - a beautiful word and what new parents need most. If this is your first child, the thrill of being the parent will carry you through some sleepless nights. You have to relax and grab sleep for yourself whenever you can (which means when your baby does). Trust your own good judgment, and call your doctor for advice only if you think your baby has any real problem. And remember two things: you can't spoil a newborn by picking him or her up for nourishment or comfort just as often as you think it's necessary. And you'll look back on these early sleepless days and wonder at how quickly they passed.

Andover Engineer Presented Two National Awards

By Susan K. O'Neill

For Donald Harding of Andover, 1985 was a rewarding year.

Harding, Senior Mechanical Engineer for GTE Corporate Real Estate, Design and Construction Management, is part of a team that designs and manages the construction of mechanical systems for GTE's worldwide network of buildings.

In 1985, a major project that he had researched and designed, and for which he had supervised construction, was completed and set in motion by GTE Laboratories of Waltham. That project, a cooling-water recycling system which will save the company nearly $200,000 per year, while dramatically reducing water discharge into Boston's sewer system, earned him awards in two separate national engineering contests.

Harding won one of five Engineering Achievement awards given by the national trade magazine, Specifying Engineer, in June. In November, he was again honored when he received an Award of Merit in the 1985 Facilities Management Excellence (FAME) competition sponsored by the American Institute of Plant Engineers Foundation—one of six awards granted nationally by the institute to recognize and promote outstanding accomplishments of plant engineers and facilities managers.

The project that put Harding in the national limelight was designed, originally, to help his company comply with sewer use regulations. GTE Laboratories, a Waltham-based unit of the international telecommunications and electronics company, was named by the Massachusetts Metropolitan District Commission in 1980 as one of 44 major water consumers in the Boston area—and as a major contributor to the overloading of the city's sewer system. As Harding explains it, nearly 6.66 million gallons of water—about 69% of GTE Laboratory's total consumption—flowed into the facility, cooled its high-tech processes, and flowed back out into the sewer system each month.

Although the waste cooling water was not considered contaminated, Harding explains, its sheer volume was a detriment to the sewer system. GTE Laboratories commissioned Harding's department to evaluate the problem and to design and build a more efficient cooling system—one which would eliminate the discharge.

Donald J. Harding, left, of Andover, is presented a FAME Award of Merit for facilities management excellence from AIPE Vice President Dale M. Wiars. Harding, GTE Corporate Real Estate, Design and Construction Management was presented the award at the 1985 conference of the American Institute of Plant Engineers in Orlando, Fla.

The Somers Trust Psychological Associates is pleased to announce the first two seminars of the winter season. Financial Aid Hot Line Established Representative Sue Tucker recently announced that the Massachusetts Association of Student Financial Aid Administrators (MASFAA) will offer a financial aid toll-free telephone counseling service for a five-week period, beginning January 13.

Questions regarding eligibility criteria, types of student loans, grants and scholarships, application procedures and the financial aid delivery system can be answered by the financial aid experts. According to MASFAA, even experienced form-filers may find they need help when completing the "need analysis" application forms, requisite for all federal and most state and institutional funds.

Tucker stated, "MASFAA's hot line is a very important service, for it gives all students and parents access to accurate, up-to-date information when applying for post secondary financial aid." She indicated that the financial aid experts recruited by MASFAA for the hot line last year answered more than 1,900 calls.

The hot-line counseling service will operate weeknights from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. January 13 through February 14, except Monday night, Jan. 20. The Massachusetts toll-free number is 1-800-358-5225.

Hospice Training To Begin

The Hospice program of Visiting Nurse Association HomeCare will hold training for daytime volunteers starting January 21. The 10-week training program prepares the volunteer to work with patients and families who face life-threatening illnesses. The training will focus on many issues concerning death and dying, communication and the important role which the Hospice volunteer plays in providing care as a member of the Hospice team.

Hospice volunteers provided 2,300 hours of service to 134 patients served by Hospice in 1984-85. David Duncan, coordinator of volunteers, states that "without the involvement of a trained volunteer in our Hospice cases we could not provide the quality of care and, ultimately, the increased quality of life which our patients and families now experience."

To learn more about Hospice or to sign-up for the training program, call Duncan or Connie Carroll at Visiting Nurse Association, North Andover.

Tires

For those drivers who want the best possible protection against winter-driving problems, radial snow tires are the answer," said Kevin Clement, manager of the road service department of AAA Automobile Club of Merrimack Valley. However, he pointed out that radial snow tires will result in lower gas mileage, make for a noisier ride on dry pavement and should be used only during the winter months.

"Radial tires themselves are at the next level of effectiveness for winter driving," Clement said. "They're certainly not as good as radial snow tires or

'all-season' radials; but they are superior to regular bias-ply tires." Clement suggested that owners of front-wheel drive vehicles consult their owners' manual for the best advice on tires for that type of vehicle.

To Head Andover Raytheon Plant

Dr. Linus F. Cordes has joined Raytheon Company as general manager of the firm's Microelectronics Center in Andover. For the past two years he managed General Electric Company's Microwave Integrated Circuits Laboratory at Syracuse, N.Y.

Raytheon's new 80,000-square-foot Microelectronics Center manufactures very high speed integrated circuits (VHSIC) used in electronic equipment and systems produced by Raytheon divisions for the Department of Defense, and, ultimately, for other customers.

Opened a year ago, the $37-million advanced technology center has the capability to combine 100,000 transistors on a single chip of silicon less than one-third of an inch square.

Cordes is a graduate of University of Minnesota where he earned a bachelor's degree in 1959.

a master of science in electrical engineering in 1961 and a doctorate in 1966.

He joined General Electric as a physicist in 1966 and served in the custom integrated circuits operation. He was manager of the Integrated Circuits Fabrication Operation until 1983 when he was named manager of the Microwave Integrated Circuits Laboratory.

Cordes is the author of numerous technical papers and holds six U.S. patents. He served as an adjunct professor of electrical engineering at Syracuse University from 1977 to 1985.

Cordes, a native of Montgomery, Minn., is married to the former Lucy Bandas of Glencoe, Minn. They have three children: Michael F., 22, and twins, Kristen M. and Susan L., 18.

They will soon relocate in the Andover area.

To Discuss Teenage Suicide

As part of its wellness education series, Healthy Issues, Bon Secours Hospital will present a community education program on Teen Suicide: A Silent Epidemic, January 14 at 7:30 p.m. in the hospital's auditorium, 70 East St., Methuen.

The suicide rate among young people has tripled in the last 25 years. It is now the second leading cause of death among young people ages 15-24 in the United States. Every year five million teens attempt suicide and 6,000 succeed in killing themselves.

Douglas Gaudette, M.S., associate clinical director, Greater Lawrence Mental Health Center, will cover such topics as recognizing warning signs, coping with stress, prevention and available local community resources.

There is an admission fee and pre-registration is advised. For complete registration information on this and other Bon Secours Hospital community education programs, contact the marketing department.

Victims Compensation Bill Signed

Essex County District Attorney Kevin M. Burke and State Senator Frederick Berry (D-Peabody) were present at the State House when Governor Michael S. Dukakis signed their Victims Compensation Bill into law. The new law extends compensation benefits to victims of domestic violence, child and elder abuse who were previously ineligible under the 1968 statute. It also brings the state into compliance with the Federal Victims of Crime Act of 1984, making the Commonwealth eligible to receive $387,000 in federal funding for crime victims.

Burke, a longtime advocate for victim rights in Massachusetts and a member of the statewide Victim's Assistance Board, said, "This bill represents one more step in our effort to create a more equitable criminal justice system. Since the Victims Rights Bill was passed in 1982, our movement to bring long overdue consideration to crime victims has grown considerably. We intend to continue our fight for additional legislation to benefit all those victimized by crime in our state."

Massachusetts was the fifth state in the country to pass a law which provides direct compensation to victims of violent crime. Since 1968, the Commonwealth has been compensating crime victims for their medical expenses and loss of wages.

Burke praised Sen. Berry for his sponsorship of the Victims Compensation Bill and his work within the legislature to ensure its passage.

Karen A. McLaughlin, director, Massachusetts Office for Victim Assistance, stated that, "These compensation amendments represent the first major revision of the Victim of Violent Crime Compensation Law in 18 years. Together with the Victim Bill of Rights, this new law reflects the most comprehensive rights and services for victims in the country. Essex County District Attorney Kevin M. Burke and Senator Frederick E. Berry should be acknowledged for their hard work in lobbying this legislation and for bringing a substantial amount of federal money to Massachusetts to pay for the expansion of compensation benefits."

With the enactment of the Victims Compensation Bill, Massachusetts retains its position as a national leader on progressive victim's rights initiatives."

Students, Parents Examine Andover High Party Scene

By Susan K. O'Neill

The teenager peered down from his seat of "honor" on the Collins Center stage and considered his audience. A sizeable crowd, perhaps 200 people. Parents; psychology professionals; clergymen and teachers. A sprinkling of adolescent faces among the older ones.

"I figured you came here because you wanted the truth," he began. Then Paul Sapienza gave them the truth, from his perspective as a student, about the "party scene" at Andover High School.

Teenagers party on weekends, said Sapienza, for much the same reason that their parents party—to get away from the pressures and routines of the week. "Partying is a change," he said. "If you drink, you've changed your mood—you feel free from school."

The purpose of the assembly, held Tuesday night at the Collins Center, was to allow parents, professionals and students to discuss the teenage social scene in Andover. Coordinated by the Andover High Parent Advisory Committee (PAC), the discussion explored the ways in which local teenagers use their leisure time. More specifically, it threw some light upon the question of why Andover students often choose to bypass school-organized activities, like dances and pep rallies, for local—and often illegal—parties.

Members of the audience listened as two formal panels attacked the question of "school-structured activity vs. private parties" from a variety of angles—laying a foundation for later small-group discussions in which all present would participate. The specter of teenage drug and alcohol abuse loomed in high profile over the presentations.

In opening the first panel, which had been assigned to present a "statement of the issue," Andover High School Principal Mary Athey Jennings described a sophomore dance at the school which had drawn only 30 ticket-buying students. When a sponsor had asked why so few teenagers had attended, said Jennings, "the students said they wanted to leave to check out what else was happening that evening."

Jennings said that attendance has also fallen off sharply for other activities, such as pep rallies, the annual variety show and even the Halloween Dance, an event that she characterized as very well-attended in past years.

The school wants to sponsor activities, continued Jennings, but the drop in attendance has made sponsors wary of spending their energies and time to create events that students will not attend. She posed two questions that she hoped could be answered with the help of the discussions: What do the students want? and What can the school do?

Besides Jennings, participants in the first panel included parents, the Chief of Police, the high school's Director of Guidance and two students. Some of the material they presented was informative; some, frighteningly personal. Much of it was eloquent. But perhaps the most relevant observations came from the two teenagers, Mary Robb and Sapienza, who discussed their viewpoints and those of their peers with commendable candor.

Sapienza, a senior and a member of Students Against Driving Drunk, estimated that students began drinking liquor in Andover at about the seventh grade level. He added that alcohol is much more accessible in high school, and that, when he polled one of his classes about weekend partying—with alcohol—more than half the students admitted to regular attendance.

"It's not that they think it's not 'cool' to go to dances," he explained, "if there's a party, it's more fun to go to a party." He said that he had been surprised, when he had attended a recent school-sponsored pep rally, to find the attendance small. "I don't know why it was," he said. "Maybe there was a party that night and I didn't know about it." Then he quickly added, "Sorry, Mom."

Sapienza said that there is "no way you'll get rid of drinking and drugs in Andover. The tougher the laws are," he said, "the more of a challenge there is to us kids to get around them."

In a pre-panel interview, Sapienza had suggested that he had been chosen for the panel as a counterpoint to his fellow teenage participant, senior Mary Robb, who is an officer of the Pep Club. "I think we're kind of opposite," he said. "I'm the party type; she's mellow."

In her presentation, Robb outlined the "normal" day of a high school student—a day that often begins at 6 a.m., includes a full school schedule and, very often, jobs and/or sports activities after school, and ends with homework. "All of a sudden, there comes the weekend," said Robb; "I'm not sure they know what to do with that leisure time."

Concerning the alcohol-fueled parties described by Sapienza, Robb said, "There's a whole group of students who haven't been to a party of this sort for three months."

Robb said that she had asked students why they didn't attend school-sponsored activities. "They said, 'We don't want to come back to school after spending the day there,'" she said.

To Compete In Theatre Festival

James Dizazzo of North Andover, a student at Salve Regina College, Newport, R.I., and member of the Salve Regina College's theatre company, has been selected to further compete in the American College Theatre Festival (ACTF).

The judging for the right to advance in the competition took place during the recent production of two Peter Shaffer plays, "The White Liars" and "Black Comedy." On stage at the Megley Theatre, Dizazzo played Frank in "The White Liars."

The aim of the American College Theatre Festival, produced by the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts and partially funded by the U.S. Department of Education, is to promote quality in college-level theatre production. Once a college enters a play into competition, a regional ACTF representative adjudicates the performances. Outstanding students are selected who then further compete in ACTF programs involving awards, scholarships and special grants for actors, playwrights, designers and critics at regional and national levels. The most prestigious prize is the Irene Ryan Scholarship. Nationwide last year over 12,000 students from 550 productions participated in the festival.

The Salve selectees will participate next at the University of New Hampshire where they will perform in January in regional competition with approximately 50 other actors and actresses. Winners from 18 regions will win awards along with the right to compete at the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts. This final competition decides the winner of the Irene Ryan Scholarship.

Health Center Offers Risk Factor Testing

Cardiovascular disease (heart and blood vessels) affects more than 45.5 million Americans and is the nation's number one killer. The American Heart Association estimates that 1.5 million Americans will have a heart attack this year.

To avoid becoming part of these statistics and to assess your personal risk for cardiovascular disease, the community health education department of the Regional Health Center in Wilmington is offering a new individual risk factor assessment service. This service includes a blood test profile for cholesterol, HDL (high density lipoproteins which help eliminate cholesterol), glucose (sugar level diabetes test) and triglycerides (fat component linked to development of heart disease). The results are given a week later, blood pressure and weight are checked and information on stress levels, aerobic exercise and smoking habits are plotted on a graph.

This graph ranges from light pink to bright red indicating low-to-high risk in each category and then an overall score and risk level are determined.

A health education counselor will discuss lifestyle, how controllable risk factors can be lowered, permanent risk factors such as age, sex, heredity and race and how these affect the individual.

Call the Regional Health Center to pre-register for the blood test which will be held Wednesday, Jan. 15, from 7 a.m. to 10 a.m. A 12-hour fast is required prior to the test. Counseling will be held on Tuesday, Jan. 21, from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. There is a fee to cover laboratory services.

The Regional Health Center is a division of Choate-Symmes Health Services.

The highest point in the contiguous United States, the 14,494-foot peak of Mount Whitney in California, can be seen from the lowest point in the nation, Death Valley, which is 282 feet below sea level in California. These extremes are 100 miles apart.

"Miracle Worker" Being Prepared

Rehearsals for the Andover Community Theatre's production of "The Miracle Worker" are in full swing. The play, based on events in the life of Helen Keller, will held February 7, 8, 9, 13 and 14 at Memorial Auditorium at Doherty Junior High School in Andover.

A talented group of local actors have undertaken this challenging play with enthusiasm. Many of the roles require a lot of insight and imagination. In addition to the obviously difficult portrayal of Helen, who is both blind and deaf, other roles require accents and strong temperaments.

Donna Kerr of Danvers will portray the role of Helen Keller, the blind and deaf child who eventually became known throughout the world as an author and educator. She knows the part of Helen well, previously appearing in "The Miracle Worker" when it was presented as a high school production.

Kim Enders of Boston appears as Annie Sullivan, the young woman who traveled from Boston to teach Helen to understand the meaning of words. Enders has appeared in A.C.T.'s production of "The Mousetrap" and was musical director of "Damn Yankees."

Bill Joubert of Andover portrays Captain Keller, Helen's strict father. He has appeared in a number of A.C.T. productions, most recently in "Peter Pan" as Mr. Darling. Joubert also appeared in "Who's Afraid of Virginia Wolfe?", "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" and "Damn Yankees."

Michelle Kyllis of Arlington appears as Annie's mother, Kate. She recently appeared as Mary in A.C.T.'s "Vanities," a role for which she was nominated as best actress for 1985 in the New England area by the New England Theatre Conference (NETC). Kyllis also appeared in "Last of the Red Hot Lovers" and "Chicago" for A.C.T.

Gail Ralston of Andover appears for the first time onstage in the role of Helen's Aunt Ev. She has been involved behind the scenes in many A.C.T. productions, including "Grease" and many of the children's plays.

Another newcomer to the Andover stage is Jonathan Finn of Andover, who portrays Annie's sarcastic, yet level-headed, brother, James.

Ron Wackowski, another veteran A.C.T. performer, is director, Pal Le Mieux is producer and Michelle Gregg is stage manager.

Rehearsals are taking place four nights a week until opening night in February.

Duo Trumpet Recital

On Sunday, Jan. 12, at 3 p.m. in Cochran Chapel, the music department of Phillips Academy will present Vincent Monaco and Douglas Myers, P.A.'66, in a duo-trumpet recital dedicated to Roger Voisin, retired principal trumpet of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, with whom both performers have studied. Carolyn Skelton, organist at the academy, will accompany them.

The recital will include works of Stravinsky, Franceschini, Modena. Albinoni La Grenzi, Bach, Baldesari, Molter and Vivaldi.

Myers graduated from Phillips Academy cum laude. He attended Oberlin Conservatory of Music and has been a member of the Kansas City Philharmonic, the Milwaukee Symphony and the North Carolina Symphony. Myers also studied with William Vachiano and Adolph Herse.

Monaco, a member of the Phillips Academy music faculty, received his Masters in Performance from Boston University School of Music and studied with Walter Chesnut and Gerard Schwartz.

There is no admission charge and the public is invited.

Night At The Theater Benefits Lazarus House

The Christian Service Commission of St. Augustine's Church in Andover announces a night at the theater at the Showcase Cinema, Route 114, Lawrence, on Sunday, Jan. 19, at 6 p.m. The event has been organized as a fundraiser for the Lazarus House in Lawrence which provides shelter for the homeless and, under the direction of Brother Tom Pettit, has been doing outstanding work in the community.

The Walt Disney Pictures presentation of the Lobell-Bergman production of "The Journey of Natty Gann," an exciting new drama in which a courageous young girl faces extraordinary odds during a cross-country adventure in search of her father, has been carefully selected since it is a family movie and has received excellent reviews.

—Starring as Natalie (Natty) Gann is 15-year-old Meredith Salenger, a talented newcomer who was selected after the filmmakers interviewed more than 2,000 actresses nationwide. John Cusack, who won acclaim for his recent starring performance in "The Sure Thing," stars as the young drifter who comes to Natty's aid. Also featured in this real-life American fable are Ray Wise, Barry Miller (the 1985 Tony Award-winning Best Supporting Actor for "Biloxi Blues"), Scatman Crothers, Lainie Kazan, Verna Bloom and Bruce M. Fischer.

Tickets may be purchased in advance from St. Augustine's Rectory, 43 Essex St., Andover, or St. Augustine's C.C.D. office.

Refreshments, prepared by Christian Service Commission members, will be served at 6 p.m. at the theater and the performance will begin at 6:30 p.m.

South Church Celebrating 275th Anniversary

South Church of Andover began a year-long celebration of its 275th anniversary Sunday with the unfurling of an anniversary banner from the 167-foot white steeple. The banner will be flown each Sunday and on special occasions throughout 1986.

A surprise guest from the past will appear during Morning Worship this Sunday at 10:30 a.m. and a joint worship service will be held January 19 with Christ Church, which is observing its 150th anniversary.

Other events include an Ecumenical Peace Service on January, a major capital fund drive to begin later this month, a concert by the Norman Luboff Choir on February 9, a South Church Open House at the Historical Society on March 9, "275 Years of Music" by the South Church Choir on April 27, gravestone rubbing in the South Church cemetery on September 14, a fashion show spanning 275 years on September 25, a family night featuring historian-storyteller Judith Black on October 17, Anniversary Sunday on October 19 and a South Church exhibit at the Andover Historical Society beginning November 16.

South Church was formally "gathered" on October 27, 1711, after the General Court settled a community dispute by dividing Andover into North and South parishes. While North Parish Church remained the religious and political center of North Andover, South Parish built its own "meeting house for worship of God and as a convenient place to conduct town affairs."

The Rev. Samuel Phillips was ordained on that first official Sunday and served as Puritan mentor to his people for almost 60 years. He was succeeded in 1772 by the Rev. Jonathan French, a sometime professional soldier and accomplished amateur surgeon, who picked up his gun and surgical instruments that Sabbath morning when news of the Battle of Bunker Hill reached Andover and set off for the army. (Four parishioners were killed and several wounded in that battle.)

Because the first two pastors served a total of 96½ years, the Rev. Westy A. Egmont became only the 15th minister when he was called to South Church in 1978. He succeeded the late Rev. J. Everett Bodge, who died Christmas Day, 1985, and who took on the role of the Rev. French for the Andover Company of Militia during the Bicentennial Celebration here.

The spiritual affairs of South Church were closely bound to the business of South Parish in the early years and town and parish meetings were held in the church until 1833. Church rates were levied on town residents and the clergy and deacons used their powers of discipline "even over townsmen not in full communication." After 1829, membership in the parish was voluntary.

South Church was the only religious edifice in town for more than 100 years, until Bartlett Chapel was built at The Andover Theological Seminary in 1816. The first "daughter" church was organized in 1826 when 56 members of South Church formed the West Church (now West Parish Church) in Andover.

Ecumenical Church Service To Honor Dr. Martin L. King, Jr.

For more than a year, three members of the Andover clergy have been planning a town-wide celebration of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.'s birthday. Those clergy organizing the event are Rev. Rosemarie Smurzynski, minister of the Unitarian-Universalist Church of Andover, Fr. Bill Mullin of St. Robert's Church and Rev. Andrew Hammersley of Christ Church.

This "first" ecumenical event of the calendar of national holidays will be held January 20 at Christ Church on Central Street, beginning at noon.

The celebration will begin with a worship service commemorating King's action and thoughts. The highlight of the program will be addresses by Rep. Sue Tucker and Sen. Pat McGovern and a major address by June Genzales on where the civil rights movement has been and where it is going. Genzales is chairman of the Merrimack Valley National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP).

A luncheon prepared by all the churches will follow the service. Children junior-high-age and older are welcome.

Rev. Rosemarie Smurzynski

Guest Minister At UU Church

The life of Martin Luther King, Jr., will be celebrated with a special service of music and readings on Sunday, Jan. 12, at 10:30 a.m. at the Unitarian Universalist Church of Andover, 6 Locke St., Andover.

Ben Tousley, Unitarian Universalist minister and folksinger, will present songs from the Civil Rights movement and Afro-American tradition along with a narrative of Dr. King's ministry from Montgomery to Memphis.

His music programs have been warmly received by UU congregations along the east coast as well as by audiences in schools, libraries, hospitals and coffeehouses.

Tousley is a graduate of Harvard Divinity School and worked for two years as a campus minister at Merrimack College in North Andover. He is currently chaplain at the Doolittle Elderly Home in Foxboro.

Child care is available. The Unitarian Universalist Church is a liberal church in the New England tradition of Emerson and Thoreau.

To Discuss Indian Life

Edmund Shaw, an authority on American Indian life and culture, will speak and show slides on Sunday, Jan. 12, at 6:30 p.m. at the Andover Baptist Church.

For 36 years, Shaw served as director of American Baptist Films, producing and distributing motion pictures and filmstrips on the mission program of American Baptist churches, with film libraries at the national headquarters at Valley Forge, Penn., and at Oakland, Calif. His work includes several hundred films which he produced in many areas of the world: "The Golden Gift" in Burma, "Feet Upon the Mountains" in Thailand, "The Rivers Still Flow" on American Indians and "Out of the Dust" in Mexico, plus dozens of filmstrips which he photographed and produced on American Baptist mission fields at home and overseas.

Shaw continues to travel the world each year, most recently to China and Southeast Asia.

From 1936 to 1941 he was on the faculty of Bacone College, Muskogee, Okla., a junior college for American Indians sponsored and supported by the American Baptist Churches. Shaw visits the campus frequently and has travelled throughout the American Southwest for more than 40 years, visiting the areas and villages from which Bacone students come, in Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arizona, Colorado and Utah.

A "Petite Supper" will follow the program. The community is invited.

Unity Service Planned

St. Augustine's parish extends an invitation for the elderly of other congregations of Andover to come together Wednesday, Jan. 15, at 1 p.m. in the upper church at St. Augustine's on Essex Street, for an ecumenical prayer service to celebrate Christian Unity Week.

A social hour with refreshments in Good Council Hall, downstairs, will follow the service.

For further information, contact Mrs. Paul Hollenbeck or St. Augustine's rectory.

South Church

The present structure, built in 1860, is actually the fourth South Church building. There's no real description of the first, other than it was built at a "rock on the west side of Roger's Brook," and that 108 pounds were levied for it.

The second was built in 1734 to keep up with the growing population. It was a three-story "shingled mass" surrounded by "horse-blocks innumerable." There were three galleries in the interior, "always densely filled with apparently pious zeal and earnest listeners," according to the Hon. Josiah Quincy, with the ladies sitting on the left, gentlemen on the right. The windows, diamond-shaped panes of rhomboid form, were loose and shacking and in the winter "when the north wind shook the vast building with unmistakable awe, their rattling was often a match, and sometimes an overmatch, for the voice of the clergyman."

The third, even larger church, was built in 1788 with a steeple built by subscription. Samuel Abbot, Esq., donated a clock, the same one which still "provides a convenience," in 1812 and a stove was installed for the first time in 1821.

The present structure was built in 1861 at a cost of $19,900 and "in the prevailing fashion." Electric lights were installed in 1890 and general remodeling followed in 1898 and again in 1900 after a fire. A four-story addition of public rooms and classrooms was made at the back of the church in 1956, at a cost of $210,000, "to meet the ever-growing needs of service to community and church."

South Church's strong commitment to home and foreign mission dates back to the harboring of Acadian refugees in 1755. In 1814, it formed the South Parish Society for the Reformation of Morals "to teach children the evils of Sabbath-breaking, intemperance and profanity" and to support three "heathen children." By 1840 and '41, the church had given large sums to the American Abolition and American Anti-Slavery Societies and sent its first missionary, Punchard High graduate Mary Louise Graffam, to Turkey as teacher and nurse in 1901.

Today, about one-third of South Church's annual budget goes to missions "around the corner and around the world" and the church directly supports missionaries in Haiti, Angola, Peru and the U.S. (with International Students, Inc.). In 1981, South Church received an Immigrant City Award from the International Institute for "significant contributions to the welfare of ethnic and minority groups in the Greater Lawrence area, particularly the Hungarians, Cubans and Vietnamese."

tect student passengers) and fuel system integrity.

"The Echo Computer Company said that for $30,000 dollars they could not provide a better routing system than we have designed. We have utilized the same problem solving and quantitative skills that industry of the military uses for transportation," Paul said.

"The Pentagon will be in touch," School Committee member Michael Giammusso said.

A plaque awarding an "unsung hero," was presented to Carol Znamierowski for her work as transportation coordinator, by the school committee.

"We have been discussing the flint and steel of transportation, from warehousing to military bases, but it is the human dynamics, receiving panic phone calls and handling with grace, knowing the topography of the area and a great team that has made this work," School Committee member Susan Poore said.

In old Japan on New Year's Day, a "male" cake was offered to the sun and a "female" cake was offered to the moon.

One of the panel's more chilling testimonials came from PAC parent Gayle Keene, whose son recently graduated from Andover High School. She scored parents' use of denial, drawing upon her own personal experience in dealing with her son's substance abuse which, she said, resulted in lost scholarships and a family that was emotionally torn apart.

"None of us wants to believe that sex, drugs and alcohol are part of our kids lives," said Keene, "But they are." She said that she and her family had denied that her son had had a problem—"he was a 'good kid'"—until confronted with evidence that could not be disputed. When she considered warning other parents of the drug problem—parents of children had been involved with her son—Keene said she was advised to drop the approach because the other parents, in their own denial, could sue her for libel.

"To say that there's an emphasis on partying in Andover is an understatement," Keene concluded. "They are partying—and they like it."

James Johnson, Andover's Chief of Police, also spoke about partying—and about his observation that police are finding an increasing number of alcohol-related parties involving younger students, those in junior high. Within the six weeks before Christmas, he said, the police force had been called out to break up four such parties—all held at homes in which the parents were not present. He reasoned that, though a child should be held accountable for his actions, parents can not shuck their responsibilities.

PAC members Andrea Bachner—a self-described "parent of teenagers for 12 years—and I've survived"—emphasized the teenage ability to give selective information about the activities to which they are going. She suggested that parents share their experiences with their peers and "commiserate." Although she felt that the leisure problem was too deep and complex to be solved by one meeting, she suggested that the crowd assembled could be a beginning in the search for solutions.

One of the more elemental facets of teenage life was brought out by Guidance director Ruby Easton. Speaking about the hectic and pressured schedule of high school students, she asked "What is 'fun'?" We have young people who have been deprived of part of their childhood—the whole interpretation of 'fun' is at stake."

Easton also stated that parent-child alienation produces emotionally-battered parents. "Parents hurt," she said.

The night's second panel—which included an attorney, a clergyman, a parent and a psychologist—spoke in response to the issues raised by the first.

Attorney Charles Dalton, Jr., described legal aspects of the Andover teenage party scene. "It is not a crime to serve a minor a drink in the home," he said; "It is a crime to procure alcohol for a minor in a commercial setting."

According to Dalton, a number of states have made the serving of liquor to minors, in itself, a crime. Massachusetts has not, as of yet. "I think we will get to that point," he added.

In the case of a minor's involvement in a serious, or fatal, accident after being served liquor by an adult, Dalton noted that, if a "proximate cause" is found between what happened and the adult's actions, lawsuit could result. In addition, injuries sustained by intoxicated minors might be ignored by insurance companies, under some new insurance regulations.

Dalton cautioned parents not to serve alcohol to minors in their homes, and to take precautions—which might include locking the liquor cabinet—when leaving for the weekend, to en-

Kitchen Design

THE PANTRY

If an older home is blessed with a pantry, rejoice. The demise of the pantry in modern home design was a mistake. It provided great amounts of storage space. Generally, it could not be seen from the kitchen or other rooms. As a result, there was no need for opening and closing cabinet doors to get at pots, pans and dishes. If your home has a usable pantry, expand it or do anything with it except eliminate it. Even a modest 6 by 8 foot area can accommodate a washer and dryer and still leave ample storage space. With a large pantry, wall cabinets can be kept to a minimum in the kitchen. This makes it airier and leaves more space for tables and chairs. However, base cabinets will still be needed for proper work surfaces.

There isn't a household around that couldn't use more storage space in the kitchen. However if you don't have the luxury of a pantry or other small room near the kitchen then you need to visit WINDSOR KITCHENS. We can change your present cabinets with modern spacious ones that will almost be the equivalent of a pantry. But we just don't replace items, we design and customize and we do the complete job. We have kitchens for every budget. So visit our beautiful showroom at 1181 Boston Rd., Ward Hill, Mass. Thurs. 9-5:30; Fri. til 8; Sat. til 2. Tel. 372-3444.

HANDY HINT:

A pantry makes a great air-lock when fitted with a back or side door.

Roads And Their Problems Get Attention Of Selectmen

By Susan K. O'Neill

A few of the town's roadways had their day in court at the Monday night meeting of the Andover Board of Selectmen.

In a unanimous vote, the board decided to close Greenwood Road—a narrow, twisting two-lane highway that runs from Lowell Street to North Street—to truck traffic. The action came in response to complaints by property owners along the road, who told Town Manager Kenneth Mahony that trucks have been using it as a pathway between Route 93 other major highways, such as Lowell Street and River Road.

Noting that trucks had been banned previously from Lovejoy Road, which connects with Greenwood at Lowell Street, Mahony indicated that signs barring trucks seem to disappear easily from town roads. He said, however, that even without the signs, "once the (truck) terminals get word, they'll route them a different way."

On the south side of town, the fate of a section of Sunset Rock Road stretched taut between two residential factions. Mahony indicated that a resident of that road had approached him, requesting that the town improve the stretch from Rattlesnake Hill Road to Alderbrook Road—a section of approximately 2,200 feet that Mahony considers "little more than a cowpath."

Mahony complied with the request by putting a road improvement bond article for $300,000 on the warrant for the Town Meeting.

Other parties living in the vicinity of the roadway have told Mahony that they would like the town to "abandon" the road—to cease upkeep and give over ownership to the street's abutters. With Mahony's help on the wording, these individuals submitted a second warrant article—for the road's abandonment.

"There were a number of articles that I put in (the warrant) that I oppose," Mahony explained about the apparent contradiction. "I thought both sides should be heard."

For their part, the selectmen declined to act on the issue. "It sounds like a neighborhood problem," said Chairman William Dalton.

If the parties involved do not come to an agreement before Town Meeting, and withdraw one or the other of the articles, said Mahony, the citizens of the town will have to decide the fate of the road.

Also discussed in the meeting was the section of Route 28 that lies between Windsor Road and Shawsheen Square. Mahony brought up the fact that the state, who owns the highway, does not allow parking in the area. In actual point of fact, however, patrons of the businesses on the

Voters Faced With 86 Items At Annual Town Meeting

By Susan K. O'Neill

Selectmen closed the annual town meeting warrant Monday night, tentatively setting an 86-item agenda for voters when the session convenes, Monday, April 7.

Town Manager Kenneth Mahony submitted a summary of the warrant's 86 articles to the board, explaining that some of the proposed items will probably be withdrawn before the final date for publication (Mar. 6).

Among this year's issues will be a request for bonding authority for $1,300,000, to be used to defray the expenses of renovating the Old Town Hall. Mahony stressed that the figure represents the estimated maximum cost for the potential work to the entire building, as determined by a reputable architect. The town will probably receive a considerable amount of funding for the project in the form of grants and donations, he explained; therefore, it is unlikely that the full extent of the authority will have to be exercised.

In a later interview, Mahony explained his selection of the maximum figure for the article. "You've got a 140-year-old building that, essentially, hasn't been touched," he said; reconstruction will have to begin with the "skin"—work on the outside, including structural repair to the walls and roof and replacement of windows—and include all interior systems. "Electricity, plumbing, heat, ventilation; that all has to be done," he said. "In a building that size, you never know what you'll find when you open a wall...I don't think anybody wants us to start something we can't finish."

Voters will also be asked to approve a four percent hotel and motel tax this year. Mahony said that the state gave municipalities the go-ahead to levy the tax last summer, and that the resulting revenues would go directly to the town. The new revenues would not be earmarked for any particular municipal program.

Added to the present six percent state tax on accommodations, the four percent will boost the overall government tariff on a traveler's bill to 10 percent. "Most of the municipalities around here have already approved the tax," said Mahony, citing such examples as Lexington, Burlington, Waltham, Woburn and Methuen.

Three other warrant articles will, if approved, result in the availability of specific grant monies to the Andover school system. Recent legislation has provided for new state grants, under the Education Reform Act, for programs in three areas: equal educational opportunity, professional development and the raising of the minimum salaries of teachers. In the Andover schools, voters will be asked to approve the last two items; approval would provide state money for professional development programs, and would raise the minimum salary of teachers to $18,000 per year. The Voc/Tech school will be asking for a vote on all three facets of the Act.

Six of the warrant's proposed articles will permit the Conservation Department to buy parcels of land within the Fish Brook watershed area. Mahony said that most of the targeted land is wetlands, and that the purpose of the purchases would be to protect the watershed.

Watershed protection measures also surfaced in another Planning Board article. Residents will be asked to vote on the institution of a Watershed Overlay

Historic Building To Be Converted To Business Use

By Lisa Waterman

A real estate management firm will be located in one of Andover's historic homes by a team of two people who are dedicated to keeping the original integrity of the town's historic buildings.

Roy Umanzio and Christine Zander, 331 Main St., were granted in a tentative decision for a special permit to convert 174-176 Andover St. into a real estate management firm, Ballardvale Company and residential housing.

Built in 1845 of Italianate design, the building originally was used as a train depot and post office and later as a community center for local meetings and religious services.

The building, on the National Historic Register of Historic Homes, was moved to Andover Street in 1950.

Ballardvale Company has experience in restoring and marketing older properties with historic significance.

"I like development with a good purpose, not just for the sake of development," Zander said. "We want to retain the history and heart of the town in all its goodness. Saving the old will be good for the town. We like the historic buildings because they reflect the quality of a certain lifestyle which is reflected in the construction of historic homes."

They have restored old wood moldings, original doorways and brought the rooms that have been chopped up to their original size, according to Zander. They plan to restore original features such as wainscoting and wide-board floors, while continuing to maintain the quaint and historic character of Ballardvale, Zander said.

The Ballardvale Company was involved with the restoration of the Ballardvale Mills complex. A wool-tendering and forge, that was listed on the National Historic Register.

Two full-time staff people will be employed in the building.

District governing both the Fish Brook and Haggetts Pond watershed areas. Beyond the watershed, the Planning Board will ask, among other items, that they approve a Retail Priority Overlay District in the heart of Andover's downtown business district, a Multi-Family Zone between that business district and single-family residential areas, and the rezoning of two Bartlet Street properties from Residential to Commercial.

Privately-submitted articles will also ask for Residential-to-Commercial zoning changes on Central and Chestnut Streets.

Two of this year's articles will deal with the licensing of dogs. In one, the town is asked to approve licensing by the town, rather than the county—an option recently opened by state legislation. Mahony explained that the change would streamline the procedure and would add "about $4,000 to $5,000 extra" to the town coffers.

The second article would allow selectmen to set dog licensing fees—a responsibility given to them in past years, said Mahony. "We have no intent of changing the fees," he added.

The selectmen will also be asking for the power to set Weights and Measures fees. These, Mahony indicated, will be raised because "our costs have increased considerably over the past few years."

Other proposed articles in the warrant include:

- two separate articles concerning the fate of that stretch of Sunset Rock Road which lies between Alderbrook Road and Rattlesnake Hill Road (see other meeting article);
- a $100,000 item for betterment of Fosters' Pond Road for emergency use, which will be charged to the owners of the road over a 20-year period;
- the condemnation authority, and a $200,000 appropriation, for the second phase of River Road improvements;
- an item for the provision of curbs and sidewalks in the Ballardvale Green area;
- an appropriation of $125,000 for Phase IV of a 5-year-old program to update fire communication equipment;
- an appropriation of $75,000 for police and fire department computers;
- a $15,000 item for the funding of cable T.V. equipment;
- several street acceptance items;
- articles by John Doyle, also presented in prior years, to change procedural rules for Town Meeting to Robert's Rules of Order, to alter recording and transcribing procedures, and to rescind the status of Whispering Pines Drive as a town road.

sure that teenagers do not have access to alcohol.

The Rev. Westy Egmont of South Parish Church took Dalton's precautions a step farther. He suggested that parents not have liquor in the house, or that they include teenagers in their weekend plans.

Speaking of Andover teenagers, Egmont said that "the average child here has a 77-hour work week." The choices faced by these harried adolescents, he said, "are essentially spiritual choices." Parents have the responsibility to be "morally formative."

Stating that parents have to provide a certain amount of structure in which their children can have fun, Egmont suggested that they work to develop "strong family networks." The churches, too, have a place in teenage life, he said, citing a recent study which concluded that 89% of U.S. high school honor students are church members.

PAC parent Sylvia Lewis advocated that parents take a firm stand with their teenagers, and not be afraid to embarrass themselves and their children. She also suggested that parents band together. "The kids support each other," she said. "They protect each other; they stick together." It is the parents, she concluded, who are divided.

Lewis detailed a contract that she felt should be made between parents. It would include agreements not to leave the children unsupervised for the weekend, to call the police when necessary in the case of drinking minors, to "tell on" other parents who offer alcohol to teenagers, and to encourage children to attend school-sponsored activities.

The final speaker of the panel, psychologist Dr. Larry Larsen, also presented a contract—distributed in the form of a printed "Parents' Covenant." Included in the covenant—which was greeted with enthusiasm by most participants in the subsequent small-group discussions—were the following parental pledges:

- to consider it fashionable to know where our children are at all times;
- to consider the value of work (an honest effort for an honest reward) an acceptable norm at home, at school and in the marketplace;
- to welcome and accept honest communica-

Schools Join Coalition

The School Committee Tuesday voted to submit an application for Andover High School to obtain associate status in the Coalition of Essential Schools.

The Coalition of Essential Schools is a network of schools throughout the state that has the common purpose of substantive improvement congenial with the ideas of the Coalition of Essential Schools which are: helping adolescents to use their minds well. Under the common principles under the Coalition's plan, the school should make no claim to be "comprehensive," that is, it is not to be a center offering a wide variety of social and vocational services to adolescents, at least at the expense of central intellectual purpose; the school's goals should be simple, that each student master a limited number of centrally important skills and areas of knowledge; the goals of the school should be universal; teaching should be maximum feasible extent and efforts should be made toward a goal that no teacher have direct responsibility for more than 80 students.

A contact person responsible for handling Coalition business will be appointed.

A membership fee of $2,000 dollars will be required for the first year, this covers attendance at symposia, communication costs and other material.

The Coalition staff will be selected from 12 to 20 schools to initiate the Associate Schools network during 1986-87.

"Joining the coalition will bring about a constant conversation with schools congenial to ours," Dr. Leslie Loomis, Asst. Supt. of Schools, said. "We will not have to re-invent the wheel. We will have outside positive interest and not just from a level of within."

The vote of the high school faculty on the question of joining the coalition was 36 in favor, 5 opposed and 20 abstentions, according to Loomis.

"This was an honest vote," Loomis said. "There are some uncertainties about the coalition and the extent possible to achieve the goals that have been laid out by the organization."

Doherty and West Junior High School would share in the benefits resulting from membership, Loomis said.

Weighty Issues

The agenda established this week by selectmen for the annual town meeting is an interesting one and one which should capture the fancy of those interested in the many factors of municipal operations.

There is, of course, the several offerings presented by the planning board and conservation commission, as well as street acceptances and the statutory items with which voters must wrestle annually.

But, among the more interesting items to be placed up for consideration are the financing of the remodeling of the old town hall on Main street, placing the establishment of fees for dog licensing in local hands, increasing fees for weights and measures procedures and the potential for the annual debate between Moderator James D. Doherty and John Doyle of Whispering Pines on town meeting protocol.

Also, there is the acceptance of establishing a hotel-motel tax which administrators now feel could generate an additional $450,000 in revenue for the town.

Town Manager Kenneth Mahony feels that the $1,300,000 being requested for town hall renovation is a maximum figure, since grants will be sought and donations accepted for the work.

The latter is interesting. It is another source of revenue devised by Andover's administration through which such things as lights for Lovely Stadium were produced. It is known as Corporate Participation Resources (CPR) to the town's economic well being.

Plans for town hall renovation give promise of an important part of the town's central business district in that the restoration is being designed to put the old structure back into the shape it once was when many municipal functions took place there.

It would appear that the expenditure is well worth the effort in view of the overall contribution it will make to the downtown area.

Acceptance of provisions of a new law would allow the local administration to set and collect dog license fees, which would garner about $5,000 for Andover.

Currently, fees are paid to the county then reimbursed to local communities.

Andover's Phydeaux lot can be comforted in the knowledge that at the moment there is no plan to increase the license fees, making them a rare breed indeed. As far as can be determined, canines must still be leashed, but remain temporarily free of additional monetary encumbrances, unlike their human counterparts.

Weights and measures inspections will result in increased fees, if voters approve a new schedule to be proposed. Such is to be anticipated. A year could not possibly pass by without either adding a fee or increasing one somewhere within the municipal family.

And, there will be the eloquence of Moderator James D. Doherty telling John Doyle that he feels for his democratic rights, but pleading with him to be seated as the town counsel pronounces Doyle's articles to be illegally before the session. Doyle will oratorically respond and tape the exchange for posterity, thus adding another chapter to the annual saga of acceptance of Whispering Pines Drive and examination of the Democratic process.

All of which should make another annual town meeting an adventurous one.

Maine Dump Beats Andover Trash Pickup

By Susan K. O'Neill

The other day I got to thinking about garbage. I was standing out on my back porch, shoving a big cardboard box full of Christmas wrappings into a "Keep Andover Clean" trash bag. Or trying to shove it in; no matter how I stomped, kicked and sat on it, that box would not fit snugly enough into the bag to allow me to close it with one of those little white plastic-coated wire things.

As everyone knows, of course, you can't set out an open bag of trash in Andover. Nobody will pick it up. Open bags are against the rules.

As I was saying, I was squashing the box into the bag, and I got to thinking about how different things are down here, garbage-wise, from the way they were in Maine.

When we lived in Maine, we took our trash to the town dump every Sunday. Dumping was a social event; as you slogged half-opened bags into the pit, you swapped lies and gossip and bad jokes with your fellow dumpers, who were your neighbors and friends. We didn't have our own newspaper in our town.

When we moved to Andover a year and a half ago, I was at first truly impressed to discover that the town was so classy that it had its own monogrammed garbage bags. That should have tipped me off about Andover trash—about what a serious business garbage is in this town.

Garbage here is nothing to be handled by rank (so to speak) amateurs. It's a pro deal, complete with a rigid weekly schedule and a list of rules. Thou shalt not put out more than six (6) properly-closed "Keep Andover Clean" bags per house—plus an occasional "large, irregularly-shaped item." Period.

I am embarrassed to admit that our five-person family sometimes creates more than six (6) bags of trash in a week. The first time this happened, I put the extra bag out with the legal six (6).

The truck picked up exactly six (6) and left me with one (1). Which had to be carried over to the next week.

That next week, we also exceeded our legal limit. So the truck left us with two (2).

From that point on, we suffered a geometric progression of rejected trash bags. It got pretty grim; they were creeping over the backyard, smugly flashing their monograms, threatening to bury us when we were saved by the kindness of our next-door neighbor, Beverly.

"We seldom have more than one or two bags," Beverly told us one day, having dug a path through the trash to our door with her snow shovel. "Why don't you just put some of your extra bags up with ours? (Not to exceed six (6), of course)."

The first time I did it, I hid my guilty face behind a curtain and watched for the truck. Would the garbage men know that all those bags weren't really Beverly's?

Miraculously, the truck came and went and took with it our six (6) and her six (6), never suspecting that four (4) of those purporting to be Beverly's were, in truth, ours.

Since that time, I have noticed that other neighbors also juggle their trash bags. It's sad—another case of a governmental system fostering dishonesty, I thought to myself the other day. When I got to thinking about garbage.

Incidentally, I never did get that box into that Daniel Kennelly of Elm Court saved John Leary from being drowned in the park Friday noon.

The breaking of a trolley wire on Main Street near Chestnut Street on Monday morning hindered trolley service for sometime until the damage was repaired.

The dramatic reading given by Leland Powers at the town hall on Monday evening, under the auspices of the November Club was thoroughly enjoyable from start to finish. The impersonations were taken from the well known old Irish play by Dim Bouciault, "The Shaughraun."

Several local people attended the Colonial Theatre in Lawrence, last Wednesday evening, where Edward Hemmer, an Andover boy, is playing in a vaudville act of his own creation.

George Symonds of Central Street caught a good-sized mink in a trap last week.

50 Years Ago — January 1936

John J. Driscoll of 36 Summer St., was awarded the license for Andover's new package store at a meeting of the selectmen last night.

Motoring proved very hazardous because of the fresh snow storm with its following rain last night. Several traffic jams occurred on local roads, especially on North Main Street.

Mary E. Barrett of 28 High St. was last night awarded a

The Board of Public Works and the School Committee have been advised by the attorney for Andrew Basso that he intends to terminate his agreement with the town by virtue of which baseball players on the playstead could retrieve balls which went over the fence into the Basso property. Mr. Basso by a town vote had been receiving $100 a year from the town.

Breaks at the post office and store of George R. Bruce in Ballardvale and at the home of Thomas Dea on Summer Street over the weekend both proved unsuccessful.

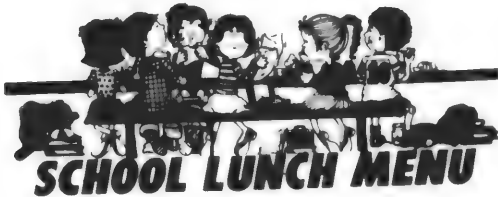

25 Years Ago — January 1960

Town hall friends of Arthur W. Cole gathered last Thursday afternoon to wish him well during his retirement. Mr. Cole has been a welfare agent for many years.

A committee of young people and adults—all with the single goal of establishing a teen-age center in Andover—met last night at the Central School auditorium.

Workmen of the M. DeMatteo Construction Co., under contract with the state, are installing a giant water main for the town. The 290-foot section of pipe will lie many feet underneath Route 495, and will eventually be part of the line, that feeds additional water to Haggetts Pond from the mouth of Fish brook.

Many Andover residents are enthusiastically looking forward to the first meeting next Wednesday of the new community mixed chorus.

This team also won four consecutive "Little Three Titles," providing Amherst College with its third undefeated season in more than 100 years, and beat arch rival Williams College for four consecutive years, including this year's 100th annual game.

White is also a four-year varsity basketball player for Coach Dave Hixon, also a former Andover High School athlete.

White, the son of Richard and Rose White, 27 Bartlet St., has continued to maintain an academic honor status.

Merrimack Sports Wrap-up

They came from Maine, New York and Rhode Island, but they still couldn't derail the Warrior basketball express. The Bert Hammel-led Warrior team improved its record to 7-1 by winning the Fifth Annual Pepsi Invitational Basketball Tournament at Merrimack's Volpe Complex (Dec. 28-29).

Bouyed by a tremendous effort from its frontcourt, Merrimack upended St. Joseph's College from Maine 87-76 in the first round and then captured its fourth consecutive Pepsi crown by thrashing Pace University from New York 66-50. Merrimack's starting frontcourt, senior co-captains Tim Hart and Bob Venora and junior Tommy Lewis, accounted for 106 of the Warriors' 153 points in the two-day tourney. Lewis scored 27 points and grabbed 16 rebounds against St. Joe's and then capped off his MVP performance with an 18-point, 8-rebound effort in the championship game against Pace. He shot 20-for-23 from the floor in the two games. This club was ranked second in New England in the latest Division II coaches' poll.

Merrimack opens Northeast-8 Conference play with a home game against Bentley on January 15 (women 5:30; men 7:30).

The Warrior hockey team is still in first place in the ECAC East with a 9-2 divisional record (10-4 overall), but they didn't have much luck over the holidays. After disposing of a spunky University of Connecticut club 3-2 in overtime to open the Bud Light Blue-Gold Tournament at the Volpe Complex (Jan. 3-4), the Warriors lost a heart-breaker to Rochester Institute of Technology (RIT) in the championship 5-4. Merrimack sophomore Jim Vesey was the leading goal-scorer with four. He made the all-tournament team, along with sophomore teammate and defenseman Bob Jay. In 14 games, Vesey, a draft pick of the St. Louis Blues out of high school, is leading all Warrior scorers with 13 goals and 15 assists for 28 points.

The team is on a six-day trip West. They will play Air Force Academy in Colorado twice (Jan. 7-8) and then conclude the trip with two games at U.S. International University in San Diego (Jan. 10-11), before hosting American International University at the Volpe Complex on January 16.

Pothier Nips At Somerville

Chris Pothier played David and Goliath this past weekend in Danvers with a tough Somerville team, but in spite of his all-around aggressive play, the Pee Wee A team was unable to get on the board, losing the game 6-0. His fearless checking produced many scoring chances, the most frustrating a near goal in the top corner on a perfect setup from hard-working Don Fraser. Frank Morey also banged a hard shot off the post and Mike Ristuccia and Sean Darwin had some nice scoring chances stopped by the tenacious Somerville defense.

Defensemen Chris Cashman, Gary Bleszinski and Jim Morris played fine two-way hockey, adding to the team's improving shots-per-game totals.

Mike Murnane had his hands full in net, making 25 saves.

In a recent game at Merrimack College, Andover improved its performance against a top-notch Tritan team, but still lost 7-0. Goalie Murnane faced 45 shots on net and was largely responsible for keeping Andover respectable.

Exempt

Elder Affairs Secretary Richard H. Rowland recently announced that over-the-counter medicines such as aspirin and cold remedies are now exempt from the sales tax, if prescribed by registered physicians.

"The ruling promotes a policy consistent with the belief that people should not be taxed on required medication," he said. Rowland reminded elders that this ruling applies only to those over-the-counter remedies that are physician prescribed. Non-prescription medicines remain taxable.

INFORMATION CONCERNING CABLE TELEVISION FOR EVERYONE.

By Jim Novo, JANUARY 9, 1986

THE VALUE OF BASIC Part One

I will speak to you on a subject you will not hear many cable people talk about - broadcast television. I will address it in a way you won't hear from cable often either - favorably. The purpose of this particular weekly series is to delineate some of the mechanisms behind the relationship between broadcast television and "basic" cable, and point out an often overlooked fact: cable television is largely responsible for the growth in quality and variety in broadcast television.

The game is called programming. The players include everyone from the movie studios down to you yourself; the referee is the Nielsen rating system, and the playing field is your living room. The winner has already been determined:

IT'S YOU.

Chris Patton scored early in the second period with assists going to Chris McAnally and Sean Lambert. However, Pentucket scored with one second left in the second period to take a 4-1 lead. Gangi took over in the third period and scored three quick goals to tie the score at 4-4. Herling assisted on the first two goals while Greg Kinsky assisted on the third. Herling got the game-winning goal with 1:44 remaining in the period with assists going to Gangi and Kinsky. Tim Smith and Chris Hansberry shared the goaltending duties. J.V. Skaters Tested

A strong skating Tewksbury team overpowered the high school junior varsity hockey team in early season action, 9-3. In their first home game at Merrimack College, Coach Joe O'Donnell's Warrior skaters kept it a close game into the third period, finally yielding to the superior Tewksbury team.

Down 2-0 in the first period, Matt Pothier, with an assist from Kyle McCabe and Hugh Maginnis, fired a low, hard slap shot into the net for Andover's first score. Tewksbury added three goals, swarming around Andover goalie Tim Smith. Pothier again took a pass from Maginnis in the third period and notched his second goal of the night.

A pass from Chris McAnally to Mike Moriarty was deflected to McCabe, who scored what would be Andover's last goal.

Andover 2 - Central Catholic 5

Andover could manage only two goals against a well-drilled Central Catholic team in continuing holiday action. McAnally tied the score at 1-1 with a lightning shot, taking the pass from Chris Patten and Matt Alden. Central broke to a 4-1 lead until Sean Lambert, with an assist from Greg Kinsky and McAnally, scored the final Andover tally.

Andover Pee Wee B's Split A Pair

Two days after the Christmas holidays were over, the B's played their nemesis, the Salem, Mass., team. All the money spent on new gloves, sticks and assorted hockey Christmas presents paid off as Andover shut out Salem 2-0. Mike Daley was outstanding in the net, stopping shot after shot in close and from the blue line. Goals were scored by Greg Afarian and Pete O'Shea. Afarian keeps digging and digging and his aggressive style pays off. O'Shea had many shots on net and scored his goal on a pass from Billy Owens. He's a hard worker and his strong skating skills are a welcome addition this year. Salem kept coming back, but only Andover's goalie and key plays from defensemen Michael Walsh, Matt Tanner, John Constantine and Bobby Sheehan preserved the victory.

On Sunday Andover played their first game against North Reading this season. Right off the first face-off the game could have gone either way. Matt Tanner scored on a key play and carried the puck from the defensive zone all the way down the length of the ice to give Andover the lead. Tim Fox played a good game on defense and made many fine passes. Constantine broke up many North Reading plays. Jay Coburn hit the post on a super try, but to no avail. North Reading scored two quick goals in the third period on power plays. Andover will be without the services of Joe Howard who will be out for the season with a hip injury.

The 1986 season begins on Monday against Ipswich. Andover will be at full force when Joe Li-guori and Danny Feeley return to the lineup.

Icemen Score League Wins

The Andover Squirt A hockey team scored two strong league victories this past weekend as they continued their strong showing in their two leagues.

Andover played one of their strongest games of the season on Friday as they downed East Boston 5-2 in a Danvers League game.

Steve Neal opened the scoring 25 second into the game as he completed a fine passing play involving linemates Andy Novelline and Bob Daley. However, East Boston tied the game three and a half minutes before the period ended.

East Boston mounted a sustained attack during the early part of the second period only to be turned away on several occasions by the outstanding goaltending of Fred Sunderland. Dan McKew broke the tie with 2:49 left in the period as he fired home a shot from close range. Jay Stella and Paul Allard assisted.

Four more goals were scored, three by Andover as Stella, Novelline and Daley each put the puck into the net. Daley (2), Neal and McKew each drew assists.

There was no scoring in the third period as Andover's defense held firm. Playing especially well were Allard, Brendan Finneran and Danny Trede.

Andover scored a 5-3 victory over Triton in a Valley League contest on Sunday.

Scorers were Daley, Brendan Sheehy, Neal, Stella and McKew with assists going to Neal, Finneran, Daley, Novelline, Stella and Adam Gurry.

Andover has now lost only two of their last 13 league games.

PLANNING BOARD
PUBLIC HEARING

In accordance with Chapter 40 G.L. Section 5, notice is hereby given that the Andover Planning Board will hold a Public Hearing, Tuesday, January 28, 1986, at 8:30 P.M., in the Third Floor Conference Room, Municipal Town Offices, 36 Bartlet Street, Andover, MA., to consider the following amendments to the Zoning Bylaws:

ARTICLE:

To see if the Town will vote to amend the Zoning By-Law and its accompanying Zoning Map, Article VIII of the Town By-Laws, to relocate the zoning boundary between the Industrial D and Single Residence C districts in the Chandler Road area as follows:

That the southerly boundary line along Chandler Road of the Industrial D district bounded by the Merrimack River is relocated to the following position:

Beginning at a point two hundred (200) feet east of the center line of Brundrett Avenue and three hundred (300) feet north of the center line of Chandler Road, extending in an easterly and south-easterly direction along a line located three hundred (300) feet north of the center line of Chandler Road for such distance as will cause the relocated boundary to intersect three hundred (300) feet north of the center line of Chandler Road with the existing eastern boundary of said Industrial D district where it meets the Single Residence C district.

or pass or take any vote or action relative thereto.

ARTICLE

To see if the Town will vote to amend the Zoning By-Law, Article VIII, of the Town By-Laws, as follows:

(1). That a new Section VIII.C.2. is inserted to read:

"2. Planning Board Special Permits:

a. Applicability: The Planning Board shall act as the Special Permit granting authority for the following Special Permits:

- (1) Reduction or change in location of parking spaces required in the GB district, under Section VI.A.6.h of this By-Law;
- (2) Cluster Development, under Section VI.D. of this By-Law;
- (3) Removal or Regrading Incidental to Subdivision Development, under Section VI.E.1.2.(a), (b), (c) of this By-Law;
- (4) Attached Cluster, under Section VI.0.6 of this By-Law;
- (5) Certain uses in the Retail Priority Overlay District, under Section IV.C.2.c of this By-Law;
- (6) Certain uses in the Watershed Protection Overlay District, under Section VI.P. of this By-Law.

b. Application: The Planning Board may, from time to time, establish and amend the form and content and general filing instructions of the applications for Special Permits which it is empowered to grant. The form of application and general filing instructions shall be filed with the Town Clerk and the Department of Community Development and Planning.

c. Public Hearing:

- (1) The Planning Board shall hold a public hearing in conformance with the provisions of M.G.L. Chapter 40A, Section 9 and with the provisions of the Andover Zoning By-Law;
- (2) The public hearing shall be held within 65 days after the filing of the application;
- (3) Notice shall be given by publication and posting and by first-class mailings to "parties of interest" as defined in M.G.L. Chapter 40A, Section 11.

d. Decision:

- (1) The decision of the Planning Board shall be based on:
 - i. the specific standards described in the section of this By-Law which corresponds to the type of Special Permit sought from the Planning Board;
 - ii. the Special Permit criteria stated below in Section VIII.C.3. of this By-Law;
- (2) The decision of the Planning Board shall be filed with the Board and the Town Clerk within ninety (90) days following the close of the public hearing;
- (3) Failure of the Board to act within ninety (90) days shall be deemed a grant of the permit applied for;
- (4) Issuance of the Special Permit shall require a two-thirds vote of the Planning Board if its full membership exceeds five (5) members, a vote of at least four (4) members if its membership is five (5) members, and a unanimous vote if its full membership is three (3) members."

(2) That existing Section VIII.C. subparagraphs 2., 3., 4., and 5., are renumbered subparagraphs 3., 4., 5., and 6.

or pass or take any vote or action relative to any of said proposed amendments.

ARTICLE

To see if the Town will vote to amend the Zoning By-Law, Article VIII of the Town By-Laws, as follows:

(1) That Section VI.A.3. is deleted in its entirety and replaced with a new section VI.A.3. to read as follows:

"3. Design Standards:

a. Dimensions: Parking spaces and maneuvering aisles shall be laid out in compliance with the minimum dimensions set forth in the following table:

| MINIMUM PARKING SPACE & AISLE DIMENSIONS FOR PARKING AREAS (in feet) | | | |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------|------------------------|----------------------------|
| Angle of Parking | Width of Parking Space | Depth of Parking Space | Width of Maneuvering Aisle |
| 61 to 90 degrees | 9' | 18' | 24' |
| 46 to 60 degrees | 9' | 18' | 18' |
| 45 degrees | 9' | 18' | 15' |
| Parallel* | 8' | 22' | 14' (one-way) |

20' (two-way)

*To be counted as a required parking space, a parallel parking space shall have a maneuvering space at least 20' deep in front of it in an aisle parallel to and abutting such parking space.

b. Layout:

- (1) Access to and egress from all parking areas shall be only via driveways which meet the design standards of Section VI.A.3.c..
- (2) All portions of all parking spaces, loading areas and maneuvering aisles shall be set back a minimum of five (5) feet from any street or way and a minimum of five (5) feet from any property line. Curbs, wheel stops, screening or similar barriers shall be installed along the setback line for parking and loading to prevent vehicles from being parked or driven within required setback areas or required landscaped areas.
- (3) Each required off-street parking space and loading area shall be designed so that any motor vehicle may proceed to and from said parking space or loading area without requiring the moving of any other vehicle or the passing over of any other parking space or loading area.
- (4) Each parking area shall be designed to provide a circulation system within the lot so that all vehicles may exit from and enter onto the adjacent street or way by being driven in a forward direction and no vehicle shall be required to enter or leave by backing.
- (5) All required parking spaces (except those for residential uses in districts MF, SRA, SRB & SRC) shall be marked to provide delineation between parking stalls and aisles.

c. Driveways:

- (1) The maximum number of driveways permitting entrance to and exit from a lot shall be limited to two per streetline.
- (2) The minimum width of a driveway used for two-way traffic shall be 24'. The minimum width of a driveway used for one-way traffic shall be 14'. The maximum width shall not exceed 30'.
- (3) Driveways shall be located so as to minimize conflict with traffic on public streets and where good visibility and sight distances are available to observe approaching pedestrian and vehicular traffic.

d. Loading Areas:

- (1) An adequate number of off-street loading areas shall be provided for any use which may be serviced by delivery vehicles.
- (2) Loading areas shall be located in side or rear yards only.
- (3) Each loading area shall be located separately from employee and customer parking and shall be designed to protect pedestrian safety and avoid traffic conflicts with vehicles within, without, and entering and leaving the lot where the loading area is located.
- (4) No area may be utilized and counted as both a required parking space and a required loading area.
- (5) Each loading area shall consist of a bay measuring at least 30' long, 12' wide and 14' high if covered and a maneuvering space equal to the length of the bay.

e. Additional Standards for General Business District:

Where alternative access locations are feasible, parking lot driveways shall not provide access onto Main Street unless granted a Special Permit by the Planning Board upon its determination that such access onto Main Street is dictated by consideration of safety, congestion or conflict with other premises.

f. Additional Standards for Industrial Districts: In all Industrial districts, the following shall apply:

- (1) Each parking area shall contain no more than two hundred forty (240) parking spaces;
- (2) Each parking area shall be enclosed (except for access points) by a landscaped buffer not less than twelve (12) feet wide, planted with shade trees;
- (3) Each parking area shall have interior landscaping areas, primarily planted with trees, equivalent in size to five (5) per cent of that parking area's total pavement area;
- (4) There shall be no more than thirty (30) spaces in any uninterrupted row;
- (5) The size of a parking space may be reduced to eight and a half (8½) feet wide by eighteen (18) feet deep which shall be in addition to areas required for driveways, loading, walks and circulation if the parking lot is to service all-day parkers. Uses which generate frequent parking space turnover shall be required to have the standard size parking spaces (nine (9) feet wide by eighteen (18) feet deep)."
- (2) That Section VI.A.6.i. and Section VI.A.7.c. and Section VI.A.7.d. are deleted in their entirety, since they are superseded by the new Section VI.A.3.

or pass or take any vote or action relative to any of said proposed amendments.

ARTICLE:

To see if the Town will vote to amend the Zoning By-Law, Article VIII of the Town By-Laws, as follows:

(1) That a new Section VI.Q. is inserted to read:

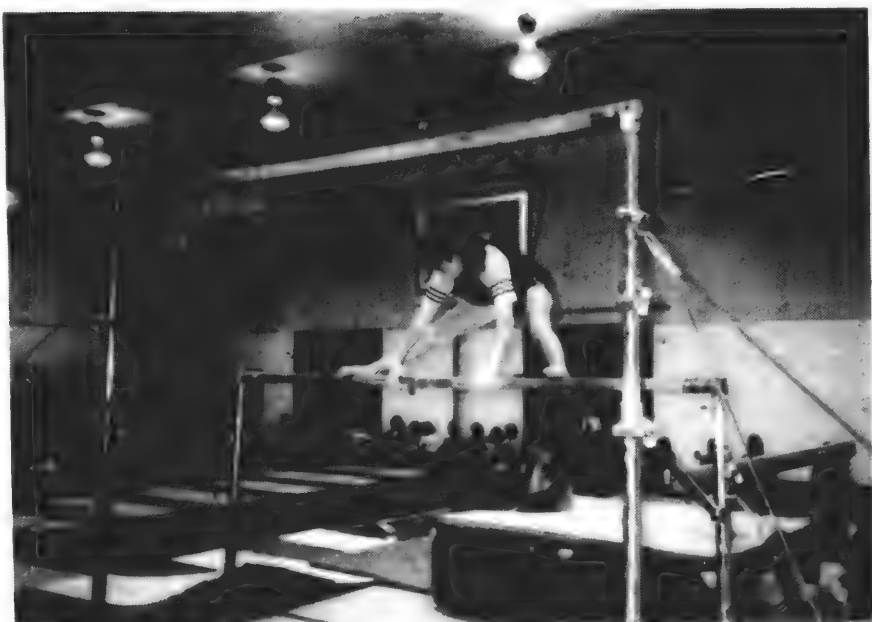

"VI.Q. Site Plan Review

1. Purpose: The purposes of the site plan review procedure are:

- (a) to administer the provisions of this By-Law;
- (b) to ensure that development will be designed and constructed in a manner which promotes the appropriate use of land and upholds the purposes and objectives of M.G.L. Chapter 40A.
- (2) Applicability: No building permit shall be issued for new construction or enlargement of a building in which commercial, industrial, institutional, and/or multi-family use or uses are located unless and until a Site Plan Review Certificate of Approval has been issued in conformance with this Section VI.Q. except for the following:
 - (a) New multi-family dwelling construction subject to the provisions of Section VI.O.6. of this By-Law, which contains separate site plan review requirements and procedures; street—and of the Shawsheen Post Office in particular—do park.

"The law is very clear," said Mahony. "There is no parking there. We just haven't posted it."

Board members discussed the pros and cons of allowing the current "illegal" parking. "Without parking there," said Selectman Donn Byrne, "it becomes a straight shot—three lanes into Shawsheen Square."

Others decried the rush hour traffic snarl in the intersection, caused in part by the parking.

"Why don't we post it during rush hours?" suggested Chairman Dalton.

"If we're thinking of changing it," said Selectman Charles Wesson, "we should have a public hearing on it for the people from the area."

Ultimately, Byrne said, "If it's a state road, have the state post it."

"We would have to enforce it," answered Mahony.

After further discussion, which strayed to the feasibility of delayed signals and left-turn arrows at the Shawsheen Square intersection, the board retired the question without action.

In other actions at the meeting, the selectmen:

- voted unanimously against instituting a special trash pickup for leaves, which would cost the town an estimated $55,000 to $60,000;

- discussed the legality of ice skating on Haggetts Pond—and concluded that it has been outlawed for some time because of the effects of the rapid and drastic changes in the pond's water level on the safety of the ice.

MARSTON ST., LAWRENCE 687-3000

The longest fight in the history of boxing took place in New Orleans on April 6-7, 1893. Andy Bowen and Jack Burke fought for 110 rounds—seven hours and 19 minutes—only to have the referee break up the fight and declare it no contest.

Harding

The project had its challenges. Harding says that he had to design a system that would fit within the plant's existing floor space. It would have to supply cooling water to nearly 200 specific high-tech processes in three lab buildings, and it would have to be able to change form with the addition and subtraction of different projects because, he explains, "this is a research and development facility, where they exist on change."

Harding studied the problem. "I spent almost four months process data gathering," he says, "talking to potential users of the system in the plant." After considering, and rejecting, a number of alternatives, he designed a central system that is, as he explains it, "like a central plumbing system, except that it's fully closed." Because the new system re-chills the cooling water and re-uses it, it does not discharge waste water into the Boston sewer system.

Harding's design features modules made up of standard lengths of pipeline, which can be removed and replaced at minimal cost as the laboratory's processes change.

Built in three phases and finished in June of 1985, the new Process Chilled Water System cost GTE $1.3 million for engineering and construction over four years. Because it will save the company slightly less than $200,000 per year in water, sewer and electrical fees and filters, Harding claims that it will pay for itself within six years.

In addition, says Harding, "There are a lot of benefits to the system that can't be quantified, such as water and sewer use conservation and the fact that the closed system isolates the 180-plus processes from the municipal water supply."

Harding, whose office is in the company's corporate headquarters in Woburn, has worked for GTE since 1981. He has lived in Andover since 1959, and resides on Poor Street with his wife, Bonnie, and their two sons.

Doran, Inc., Gets You—or It—There On Time

Some very important people in this area are going places with Doran, Inc. So are some very important packages.

To Doran's taxi service of Andover, every trip carries at least one Very Important Passenger. Maybe it's a businessman, bound for Logan Airport during the morning rush hour. Or children, headed for the YMCA. Or perhaps it's one of Doran's older customers, who insists upon being punctual for her appointment at the hairdresser or the doctor or the home of a friend.

Doran drivers pilot those little white cars with the care a V.I.P. expects—and requires.

Charlie, Scott, Gary and Dave Andover Auto Body: Service and Capability

Happy new year, to everyone from Dave Townsend, Nancy Townsend, Gary Ka-lip, Scott McLellan, Charles Townsend and Ken Hatem—
the people behind Andover
Auto Body, Andover's only exclusive privately-owned body shop.

We serve each and every one of you as a personal customer—not just a number.
Service is important to us—
as important as our capability.

And we are capable. We specialize in all types of foreign autos, including Rolls
Royce, Mercedes Benz, Jaguar, Volvo and all varieties of Japanese makes and models.

We also service all American-made automobiles.

We at Andover Auto Body can straighten your car's unitized body on our frame machine, and replace frame rails with our mig welder (which we are required to have by law).

We still do rust and rotted areas on older autos by cutting out the affected areas and hand-fabricating new pieces from new steel. These, we mig weld into place and refinish, using only top-quality materials.

Besides all this, we still give free estimates on collision repairs—for your insurance company, or for your own personal bumps and scratches. We also give a five percent discount on our work for senior citizens.

In short, we work hard, to give you every reason we can to make Andover Auto Body your one-stop auto body repair shop. Just call us at 470-2485; or stop in to see us at 2 Gradall Lane in Andover—and let Dave, Nancy, Gary, Scott, Charles and Ken be of service to you and your car.

TOWN OF ANDOVER

PLANNING BOARD
PUBLIC HEARING

In accordance with Chapter 40 G.L. Section 5, notice is hereby given that the Andover Planning Board will hold a Public Hearing, Tuesday, January 21, 1986, at 7:30 P.M., in the Third Floor Conference Room, Municipal Town Offices, 36 Bartlet Street, Andover, MA., to consider the following amendments to the Zoning Bylaw:

ARTICLE:

To see if the Town will vote to amend the Zoning Bylaw, Article VIII of the Town Bylaws, by striking out Section V.B.8.a. in its entirety and substituting the following:

"V.B.8. Industrial Districts:

- a. In any property located in Industrial Districts IA and ID, which abuts or is located directly opposite on any public or private street or way, a residential district, a lot containing a dwelling in an Industrial District, or an Office Park District, the front, side or rear yard depth requirements listed for Districts IA or ID in Section V.A. shall apply, as the case may be, to all industrial facilities including parking areas, driveways, tanks, loading bays, outdoor storage or work areas and similar accessory operations on those sides of the industrial property facing the residential district, dwelling lot or office park district, except that in such districts, no non-residential structure shall be erected nearer than three hundred (300) feet to the outside wall of an existing dwelling, whether or not a public or private way lies within said three hundred (300) feet."

ARTICLE:

To see if the Town will vote to amend the Zoning Bylaw by striking out Section VI.A.7.a.(4) in its entirety and substituting the following:

"VI.A.7.a.(4) These requirements may be reduced upon determination of the Building Inspector, on advice of the Planning Board based on site plan review, that special circumstances render a lesser provision adequate for all parking needs. In order to qualify for a reduction, the petitioner must present a site plan showing that all parking spaces needed to meet the requirements of the Table of Off-Street Parking Requirements (Section VI.A.4.) could be built on the site. Those spaces to be waived shall be marked "Reserve Parking Area(s)" on the plan, which shall be kept on file by the Inspector of Buildings. No building other than parking spaces shall ever be allowed in this area."

ARTICLE:

To see if the Town will vote to amend the Zoning Bylaw, Article VIII of the Town Bylaws, as follows:

That in the second paragraph of Section VI.A.3. the phrase "(except those for single-family homes)" is deleted and the following phrase is substituted: "(except those for residential uses in zones SRA, SRB & SRC)". The resulting amended paragraph would read as follows: "All required parking spaces (except those for residential uses in zones SRA, SRB & SRC) shall be marked to provide delineation between parking stalls & aisles."

ARTICLE:

To see if the Town will vote to amend the Zoning Bylaw, Article VIII of the Town Bylaws, as follows:

That the first line of Section V.B.7.c. is amended by deleting the words "Section IV.B., Par. 5" and substituting the words "Section IV.B., Par. 3c."

THE ESCAPE CLAUSE

Often buyers will make their offer to purchase subject to certain contingencies. Normally these are not major problems - such as: contingent upon an engineering inspection which can take place within a few days or a stipulation that financing can be obtained which is understandable. The one to think about is the sale contingent upon the buyer selling his present property.

If you do accept such a contingent offer, it would probably be wise to have your attorney insert an escape clause. This provision allows you to continue showing your home. If you receive another offer that you want to accept, you notify the first buyer that they must remove their contingency or withdraw. Either they agree to buy your home by the specified date come what may, or else they must void the contract and drop out of the picture, allowing you to sell to your new purchaser.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at THE HOWE AGENCY, 4 Pouchard Ave., Andover. Phone: 475-5100. We're here to help.

PART-TIME Seasonal Data Transcribers

Make 1986 A Better Year

With all the extra expenses winter brings (Christmas bills, ski vacations, college tuition?), it's hard to afford too much free time. But now you can turn 24 or 30 of those hours each week into dollars with the IRS during our busy tax filing season. Our Andover Service Center, at Routes 93 and 133 (Exit 43), is hiring part-time seasonal Data Transcribers for immediate and future openings—jobs that pay well and require no experience. Here's all you have to do:

1. Pass a very basic Civil Service Data Transcriber Test
2. Complete our paid Data Training Program
3. Choose your schedule:
Monday-Friday, 6 PM to 12:30 AM;
Sunday-Tuesday, 4:30 PM to 1 AM;
Wednesday-Friday, 4:30 PM to 1 AM.

You'll earn $5.49 per hour plus 10% night differential after 6 PM and incentive pay based on performance (half of our data employees get incentive pay every payday). U.S. Citizenship required.

APPLY NOW: Early applicants will have the best opportunity for selection of available shifts.

The IRS's Andover Service Center also offers generous benefits, including sick leave, paid holidays and free parking.

Start earning money for those winter bills by signing up today. For more information, call us collect at (617) 681-5627. Or come to the Andover Service Center any Thursday by 6 PM sharp for the Civil Service Test. No appointment is necessary!

A Cold Car

AAA Merrimack Valley recommends some ways to increase the chance your car will turn over when the mercury drops towards zero:

Use an engine heater.

When the engine is warm, cover the hood with a blanket (preferably one that reaches all the way to the ground). A heat lamp (200 watts or more) mounted on a wide board can be placed on the ground under the oil pan. The heat will then be held in the engine compartment and make starting easier.

Keep fuel tank three-quarters full and add a can of gasoline anti-freeze to reduce the chance of fuel-line freeze-up.

The Engineer-in-Training review course for preparation for the state examination will be conducted at Wentworth Institute of Technology January 8-April 9.

Classes, conducted in conjunction with the Massachusetts Society of Professional Engineers Metropolitan Chapter, will be held on 12 consecutive Wednesdays from 6:30 p.m. to 9 p.m.

The course is designed to cover the fundamental engineering knowledge necessary for the Mass. State E.I.T. exam which will be given on April 12.

Subjects include chemistry, mathematics, dynamics, electricity, statics, economics, fluid mechanics, thermodynamics, strength of materials and computer application.

Applications will be accepted on a first-come basis.

For further information, contact Richard C. Downes, Professional Education Chairman, c/o Chas. T. Main, Inc., 101 Huntington Avenue, Boston, MA 02199.

BUYER'S REMORSE

Your Realtor calls with great news. Your offer has just been accepted. Congratulations! You're about to become a homeowner! Your initial euphoria may be short lived, however. You begin to have second thoughts. First, it's the mortgage. It's so much money and takes 30 years to pay off. You look over the estimated closing costs, adding up the cash you'll need for settlement, and feeling like you'll never be able to afford to eat meat again. Finally, you stare at the structural inspector's report and convince yourself that the roof will blow off and every major system will fail the day after you move in. You're in a frenzy. "What have I gotten into, and how can I get out of it?" Relax. This is normal, so normal that it even has a name - Buyer's Remorse. It's virtually always temporary, and if you have an extreme attack, don't hesitate to call your realtor. We're experienced at helping our customers through homebuying jitters with almost every property we sell.

The professionals at Realty USA, Schruender Real Estate can guide you through each step of the home buying and selling process. Just stop by our offices at 73 Chickering Road, North Andover, or give us a call at 685-5000.

The ANDOVER TOWNSMAN

Selectmen Agree To Join In Study Of Day Care Issue

The Board of Selectmen reacted positively Monday night to a request for help with the complicated issue of day care, as it relates to the school system. The issue—one that has haunted the School Committee lately in the form of transportation and bus-stop requests—was bag so that it could be closed with the little white plastic-coated wire thing. In the end I had to get the stapler from my desk and staple the thing shut.

I must've done well; the garbage men took it.

But, the other folks—those recycling people, you know?—they left the papers I'd put out. The problem was, I've been told, that I had piled them all into a big cardboard box. The recycling people don't take papers unless they're bundled into brown paper bags; they don't take cardboard boxes unless you break them down.

So, I have to wait two weeks. Then I'll take the papers out, stuff them into brown paper bags and stomp on the box so it will collapse to fit the pick-up regulations.

You know, sometimes I really miss my old Sundays at the dump.

brought to the selectmen's meeting by School Committeeman David Birnbach.

Referring to facets of the subject that his committee had recently entertained, including a request that a student's bus stop pick-up site be moved to accommodate a day care situation, Birnbach asked the board to take a joint look, with the School Committee, at the broader issue of day care needs. "The Committee feels as a whole that it's a larger problem than just the School Committee," he said.

Chairman William Dalton encouraged

Birnbach to relay the selectmen's willingness to participate in such a joint discussion to his committee. He also wondered aloud why time has not been set aside at recent town meetings to discuss the problem.

Selectman Donn Byrne suggested that "the town has gotten so large" that there is little time at the yearly meetings, given the length of the warrant and the size of the assembly, in which the topic can be freely discussed.

Dalton wryly expressed surprise that the town could outgrow the capability to discuss topics relating directly to its citizenry.

In summarizing the town's confusion on the issue, Town Manager Kenneth Mahony cited the complexity of the subject of day care, stating that some residents need all-day service; some want before- and after-school care programs. Others, he said, want nothing to do with the issue—"I've raised my kids; let them raise theirs," he said, defining their reaction to the subject. At present, he said, "there's no real way of pinning down the need and where it is."
